10 more reel scripts
that make traders stop and listen.

Emotion first, about 30 seconds each. A mix of trading knowledge, motivation and why journaling matters, written to feel like a conversation, not an advert.

Hook · Body · Re-hook · Body 2 · Solution · Close

Why the first reel lost people in 2–3 seconds

- It started with you ("how I built it"), not with them. A stranger doesn't care about your app yet. They care about their own pain. Every script here opens on the viewer's feeling: "You lost five in a row…", "It's 2am…".
- Nothing happened in the first second. A calm desk shot with a title looks like an intro, and intros get skipped. Start mid-sentence, on a face or on movement, with big text.
- The hook gave no tension. The best hooks open a loop the viewer needs closed: a shocking number, a confession, or a question about them.
- Format: landscape footage with black bars and quiet audio. Film vertical and keep the voice loud and close (see the first script file for the full filming guide).

How to deliver the voiceover so people keep listening

- Talk to ONE person. Say "you", never "guys" or "everyone". Imagine one friend who just blew their account.
- The hook is slower than the rest. Say the first line slowly and clearly, with a tiny pause before the key word ("…and you open the chart.").
- Pause before every re-hook (half a second of silence). Silence makes people look up.
- Lean on the words in CAPITALS in the scripts. Change your pitch on them.
- Emotional lines: quieter and lower. Knowledge lines: confident and a bit faster.
- Short sentences only. If a sentence needs a breath in the middle, cut it in two.
- Record the hook 3–5 times and keep the most natural one. Don't read: look at the line, look away, say it.
- Mix: post these between the feature reels (first file) so the account is about traders first and the app second.

The 10 scripts

#	REEL	TYPE	EMOTION
11	"Nobody claps for the trade you didn't take"	Motivation	Feeling unseen → pride
12	"You don't need a new strategy"	Why journaling matters	Frustration → hope
13	"It's 2am and you open the chart"	Emotional / discipline	Loneliness, regret → self-care
14	"Lose 50%, need 100%"	Knowledge (risk)	Shock → control
15	"The most expensive sentence in trading"	Knowledge + emotion	Hope → hard truth
16	"Would you show your family your trades?"	Emotional / why journal	Shame → honesty
17	"Profitable on demo, broke on live"	Knowledge (psychology)	Confusion → understanding
18	"5 losses in a row doesn't mean you're bad"	Knowledge + motivation	Self-doubt → relief
19	"Your phone is full of green screenshots"	Why journal + knowledge	Ego → learning
20	"Day 1 vs Day 100 of journaling"	Motivation + soft journzey	Doubt → belief

Honesty: lines in [brackets] must be your real story or numbers. The losing-streak figures in reel 18 are calculated (probability of at least 5 losses in a row in 100 independent trades: ≈81% at a 50% win rate, ≈46% at 60%). The drawdown numbers in reel 14 are exact (recovery needed = 1 ÷ (1 − loss) − 1).

"Nobody claps for the trade you didn't take"

REEL 11 · ~30s

MOTIVATION · EMOTION: FEELING UNSEEN → PRIDE

PART	VOICEOVER	ON-SCREEN TEXT	WHAT TO RECORD
Hook 0–3s	"Nobody will ever clap for the trade you didn't take."	Nobody claps for this 👏	FACE: very close, slow push-in. One second of silence before you speak.
Body 3–11s	"No screenshot. No green number. Just you, closing the chart, when every part of you wanted to click BUY. That's the hardest trade there is, and nobody sees it."	The invisible trade	DESK: hand over the mouse… pulls back. Chart closes.
Re-hook 11–14s	"But here's what that invisible trade actually saved you…"	What it saved you 👇	TEXT CARD, music drops out.
Body 2 14–21s	"One skipped revenge trade can be the difference between a red day and a blown week. The best traders don't win the most. They skip the most bad trades."	Pros skip more trades	DESK: calm wide shot, you leaning back.
Solution 21–27s	"So start counting them. Every night write three numbers: trades taken, trades skipped, rules followed. Watch the second number grow. That's real progress."	Taken · Skipped · Rules	TEXT: three counters ticking up. Or your notebook.
Close 27–30s	"If you skipped a bad trade today, comment 'skipped'. I see you."	Comment "skipped" 🤝	FACE: small nod.

CAPTION

Nobody claps for the trade you didn't take. 👏

No screenshot. No green number. Just discipline nobody sees.

Start counting it: trades taken · trades skipped · rules followed.

Skipped a bad trade today? Comment "skipped" 🤝

"You don't need a new strategy"

REEL 12 · ~30s

WHY JOURNALING MATTERS · EMOTION: FRUSTRATION → HOPE

PART	VOICEOVER	ON-SCREEN TEXT	WHAT TO RECORD
Hook 0–3s	"You don't need a new strategy. You need a better memory."	You don't need a new strategy	FACE: direct, slightly slower than normal.
Body 3–11s	"You've switched strategies how many times this year? Every loss, you blame the setup. But be honest: do you remember WHY you lost last Tuesday?"	Why did you lose last Tuesday?	SCREEN: fast scroll through 5 different strategy videos or course pages. Then black.
Re-hook 11–14s	"Here's the uncomfortable truth…"	The uncomfortable truth	TEXT CARD.
Body 2 14–21s	"Most traders don't lose because their strategy is bad. They repeat the same two or three mistakes, and never see them, because they never wrote them down."	Same 3 mistakes. On repeat.	DESK: same losing moment shown 3 times (loop edit).
Solution 21–27s	"Before you buy another course, journal your next 30 trades: entry, exit, reason, emotion. Then read them back. Your edge is hiding in there."	30 trades. Then read them.	DESK: notebook / journal on screen, pen writing.
Close 27–30s	"How many strategies have you tried this year? Be honest."	How many? 👇	FACE: eyebrow raise.

CAPTION

You don't need a new strategy. You need a better memory. 🧠

Most losses come from the same 2–3 mistakes, repeated, and invisible until you write them down.

Before the next course: journal 30 trades. Entry, exit, reason, emotion. Read them back.

How many strategies have you tried this year? 👇

PART	VOICEOVER	ON-SCREEN TEXT	WHAT TO RECORD
Hook 0–3s	"It's 2am. You can't sleep. And you open the chart. Just to check."	2:07 AM	DARK ROOM: only the phone screen lighting your face. Real night shot.
Body 3–11s	"Ten minutes later you're in a trade you'd never take at 10am. No plan. No stop. Just the need to feel better after a red day."	No plan. No stop.	PHONE close-up: thumb tapping Buy. Quick cut.
Re-hook 11–14s	"And you already know how this ends."	You know how this ends.	TEXT CARD, a heartbeat sound.
Body 2 14–21s	"A tired brain makes decisions a rested one never would. It's not weakness. It's just the wrong time to be the one making decisions."	Wrong time. Not wrong you.	FACE: soft light, calm voice.
Solution 21–27s	"Set trading hours like a job. Write them on a sticky note. Outside those hours, the app stays closed. Tonight, your best trade is sleep."	Your best trade tonight: sleep 😴	DESK: sticky note "Trading hours 9–12" on the monitor. Lamp switches off.
Close 27–30s	"Save this for the next 2am. Send it to the friend who needs it."	Send it to them 📤	FACE + black end.

CAPTION

"The most expensive sentence in trading"

REEL 15 · ~30s

KNOWLEDGE + EMOTION · EMOTION: HOPE → HARD TRUTH

PART	VOICEOVER	ON-SCREEN TEXT	WHAT TO RECORD
Hook 0-3s	"The most expensive sentence in trading: 'It'll come back.'"	"It'll come back." 💸	FACE: whisper the sentence. Hard cut.
Body 3-11s	"You're down 20 pips. Then 40. You remove the stop. Just this once. And hope quietly becomes your strategy."	Hope = strategy?	SCREEN: dragging the stop off the chart, P&L going deeper red.
Re-hook 11-14s	"And sometimes… it DOES come back."	Sometimes it does…	TEXT CARD, a short pause.
Body 2 14-21s	"That's the trap. The one time it comes back teaches you to do it again. And the time it doesn't wipes out a month."	That's the trap.	TEXT: a month of green, one huge red bar.
Solution 21-27s	"Decide where you're wrong BEFORE you enter. Write it down: if price closes below this level, I'm out. A stop isn't a loss. It's the price of being wrong small."	Wrong small > wrong big	DESK: writing the invalidation level on a sticky note.
Close 27-30s	"Has 'it'll come back' ever cost you? Comment the damage."	Comment the damage 😅	FACE: wince-smile.

CAPTION

The most expensive sentence in trading: "It'll come back." 💸

Sometimes it does. That's the trap. The one time it works teaches you to do it again.

Decide where you're wrong before you enter. A stop isn't a loss. It's the price of being wrong small.

REEL 16 · ~30s

EMOTIONAL / WHY JOURNAL · EMOTION: SHAME → HONESTY

PART	VOICEOVER	ON-SCREEN TEXT	WHAT TO RECORD
Hook 0–3s	"Would you show your full trading history to your family?"	Would you show them? 👀	FACE: very close, quiet voice.
Body 3–11s	"Not the wins. All of it. The revenge trades. The 3am entries. The account you quietly reset and never mentioned."	All of it.	DESK: phone face down on the table. Closed laptop.
Re-hook 11–14s	"If your answer is no… that's okay. But here's why it matters."	If the answer is no…	TEXT CARD.
Body 2 14–21s	"What we hide, we repeat. Shame keeps losses secret, and secret losses never get fixed."	What we hide, we repeat.	FACE: steady eye contact.
Solution 21–27s	"Start one honest journal. Just for you. Every trade, every feeling. You don't have to show anyone. You just have to stop hiding it from yourself."	Stop hiding it from yourself	DESK: opening a notebook or journal, writing the first line.
Close 27–30s	"Follow if you're ready to trade honestly. I'm on the same journey."	Same journey 🤝	FACE: small smile.

CAPTION

Would you show your full trading history to your family? 👀

"Profitable on demo, broke on live"

REEL 17 · ~30s

KNOWLEDGE (PSYCHOLOGY) · EMOTION: CONFUSION → UNDERSTANDING

PART	VOICEOVER	ON-SCREEN TEXT	WHAT TO RECORD
Hook 0-3s	"You're profitable on demo. Then you go live… and everything falls apart."	Demo: 🟢 Live: 🔴	SPLIT SCREEN: demo account green vs live account red.
Body 3-11s	"Same strategy. Same charts. Same you. So what changed?"	So what changed?	FACE: confused shrug.
Re-hook 11-14s	"Fear changed."	FEAR.	TEXT CARD, a heartbeat sound.
Body 2 14-21s	"On demo, losing is a number. Live, it's your rent. So you cut winners early, move stops, hesitate on entries. The strategy didn't break. Your emotions joined the trade."	Your emotions joined the trade	DESK: hand hesitating over the mouse, sweating-palms close-up.
Solution 21-27s	"Go live with the smallest size possible, so the money feels small. Before every trade, write one word for how you feel. After 20 trades, you'll see which emotion is costing you."	Tiny size + one feeling word	DESK: writing "anxious" next to a trade.
Close 27-30s	"Demo hero or live hero? Comment which one you are."	Demo hero or live hero? 👇	FACE.

CAPTION

Profitable on demo. Broke on live. 😩

Same strategy. What changed? Fear.

Fix: go live with the smallest size, and write one word for how you feel before each trade. After 20 trades, you'll see which emotion costs you.

"5 losses in a row doesn't mean you're bad"

REEL 18 · ~30s

KNOWLEDGE + MOTIVATION · EMOTION: SELF-DOUBT → RELIEF

PART	VOICEOVER	ON-SCREEN TEXT	WHAT TO RECORD
Hook 0–3s	"You lost five trades in a row, and now you think you're a terrible trader."	5 losses in a row 😞	FACE: tired, head in hands, then look up at the camera.
Body 3–11s	"Here's the maths nobody shows you. With a 50% win rate, over 100 trades, there's about an 80% chance you hit at least 5 losses in a row. Even at 60%, it's close to a coin flip."	50% win rate → ~80% chance	TEXT: coin flips / a row of red dots appearing.
Re-hook 11–14s	"So the streak isn't the problem."	The streak isn't the problem.	TEXT CARD.
Body 2 14–21s	"What you do DURING the streak is. Bigger size. Faster entries. Switching strategy on loss number four."	What you do during it is.	DESK: fast cuts, frantic clicking.
Solution 21–27s	"Plan for the streak before it comes: same risk on every trade, and a daily stop. Then judge your strategy over 100 trades, not five."	Judge 100 trades, not 5	TEXT: a 100-trade equity curve with a small dip that recovers (illustration).
Close 27–30s	"Save this for your next losing streak. You're not broken. It's just maths."	You're not broken 💜	FACE: reassuring smile.

CAPTION

Lost 5 in a row? You're not a bad trader. 💜

With a 50% win rate, there's about an 80% chance of at least 5 losses in a row somewhere in 100 trades. At 60%, it's close to a coin flip.

The streak isn't the problem. What you do during it is.
